

Thank you for coming to worship the Lord with us today. If this is your first visit here, please honor us by filling out a visitor's card found on the back of each pew. Prayer requests you may have can also be made on the other side of the card. At the close of service, please put your card in the contribution box at the exit.

During the service we will celebrate communion. This is a time that we partake of unleavened bread and juice from fruit of the vine to remind us what Jesus has done for us. Communion is not only about Jesus' death, but his resurrection and triumph over death and sin. His resurrection is the source of our hope that God will one day fulfill His promise of eternal life through Jesus the Christ.

1 Timothy 4:8-10

⁸ For physical training is of some value, but godliness has value for all things, holding promise for both the present life and the life to come. ⁹ This is a trustworthy saying that deserves full acceptance. ¹⁰ That is why we labor and strive, because we have put our hope in the living God, who is the Savior of all people, and especially of those who believe.

Christian Education

Part Two in a series

One of the earliest methods of teaching in schools was the catechetical method. It emphasized questioning and answering. The goal was not to get memorized answers to the questions, but for the student to show an understanding of both question and answer. In this type of instruction both student and teacher asked and answered questions. Each student was orally tested at the beginning of his education by the teacher to determine the student's lack of knowledge and understanding. This way a teacher could establish a starting point for the student's instruction. The best way to understand this teaching method is to equate it with modern day tutors. The student was alone with the instructor. Using this approach, the teacher was assured that the student understood the lesson's content.

The church started this method of instruction in the first and second centuries. It was practiced in the perfected form between 325 to 450 A.D. After 450 A.D. this type of instruction deteriorated. The growth of the practice of infant baptism accounted in a large part for this deterioration. Infant baptism changed the time of systematic instruction from before baptism to after baptism. The church failed to establish a way to teach those who were baptized in infancy, and relegated Christian Education to the home. Thus, education became devalued and neglected because parents worked and had other responsibilities. During this time many sermons were given, and tracts written admonishing parents to educate their children. Finally, when the church and state formed an alliance during the reign of Constantine there was no system to instruct adults and children who joined the church.

(Children's) Bible Story Returns

Be ready Kids! This morning before the “adult” lesson, our youngsters will get the opportunity to hear a Bible story prepared just for them. The “Old Folks” are welcomed to listen also. 😊

This will continue to be a weekly feature during our Sunday morning worship services.

Although designated a “Children's” Bible story, past experience tells us everyone enjoys this time and when we listen carefully, it becomes apparent why Jesus wanted us to “become like little children”.
(Matthew 18:3)

◀◀ Men Willing to Serve ▶▶

On Sunday, April 18, a brief survey intended to update our information about who is willing to serve in what capacity during Sunday morning worship services, was distributed to the men in the congregation. If you did not return that survey last Sunday, please take a few minutes to complete and return it so we can make every effort not to overlook anyone who wishes to serve.

If you feel you want to serve, perhaps not right now but in the future, you may contact any of the leadership team to be included when you are ready.
